West Palm firm reaches design finals

The seventh annual Housewares Design Awards' finalists have been announced, and a local company is one of 65 finalists!

EZ Bagz, LLC, a West Palm Beach-based company, has introduced a new trash bag system. EZ Bagz has a bag-in-bag system that nests 12 bags one inside another and that fits most all standard trash containers. Take a full bag out, and voila! Another one is already in place.

Now you only have to replace the bags once every 12 times! The eco-friendly bags are 100 percent oxo-biodegradable within 12 to 24 months, leaving no harmful residue. But the bags are moisture-proof and are actually stronger and more puncture-resistant than most conventional plastic bags.

The finalists were chosen by an independent panel of judges that evaluated hundreds of new housewares products.

Criteria included unique appearance, functionality, positioning, innovative technology or materials, safety, environmental benefits, emotional appeal, social impact and the ability to meet consumer needs.

Winners will be announced Feb. 3 at the Housewares Design Awards presentation ceremony and luncheon in New York City.

EZ Bagz are available on Amazon.com, for $9.96 for 24 bags plus shipping. For more information about the awards, go to www.housewaresdesignawards.com
